

Fort Donelson National Battlefield

Natural Resources – An Area Butterfly Checklist

Butterflies are commonly seen in the Fort Donelson area during the spring and summer months. Flowers and areas of low grass are attractive to many various types. Early morning is a good time to view and take photos of these colorful flying creatures. Remember not to catch or otherwise try to handle these or any other animals here at Fort Donelson as they are protected and part of our diverse and important natural resources. Check the box under the name of each butterfly you see. (Images courtesy of the USFWS)

Viceroy

☐

Great Spangled Fritillary

☐

Monarch

☐

Black Swallowtail

☐

Eastern Tailed-Blue

☐

Pipevine Swallowtail

☐

Gulf Fritillary

☐

Variegated Fritillary

☐

Common Buckeye

☐

Eastern Comma/Hop Merchant

☐

Pearl Crescent

☐

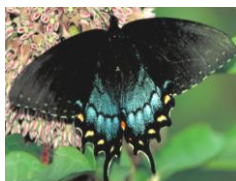

Question Mark

☐

Red Admiral

☐

Spicebush Swallowtail

☐

Gray Hairstreak

☐

Silver-spotted Skipper

☐

Zebra Swallowtail (State Butterfly of Tennessee)

☐